What Happened Next: Taking A Hit - The remarkable story of a young man's comeback from concussions suffered in football. Also, for the first time, the government is paying parents of troops wounded in battle who need expensive care.

Premiere

9:00 PM ET / 6:00 PM PT

HDNet World Report

Vaccines and Autism: Mixed Signals; Crisis in Africa; Hidden Treasure: A Million Dollar Scavenger Hunt - Health officials in the U.S. have consistently denied that there is any link between childhood vaccines and autism. So why is the government quietly doling out big settlements to families who say just such a link harmed their children? Next, on the Kenya-Somalia border, there is a humanitarian crisis that is so massive, so heartbreaking, it defies imagination. Finally, if you have an extra million dollars and you're going to die, what do you do? One man decided to create a treasure hunt with a twist.

Premiere

Rick Steves' Europe

Iran: Tehran and Side Trips - Visiting Tehran, Shiraz, Persepolis, and a small village, we'll get a rare present-day look at of some of civilization's most important historical sites, and a sense of Iran's 21st-century culture.

10:30 PM ET / 7:30 PM PT

Rick Steves' Europe

Sevilla and Andalusia - Sevilla is the flamboyant city of Carmen and Don Juan. It's where bullfighting is still politically correct and where little girls dream of growing up to become flamenco dancers. Sevilla has soul -- and we feel it in its lacy Moorish palace, massive cathedral, lavish royal tombs, labyrinthine Jewish quarter, and its people-filled streets. After munching tasty tapas, we head south for Andalusia's ultimate whitewashed hilltown, Arcos de la Frontera.

Eliica: Japan's Electric Supercar

The world's first electric car able to exceed 400 km/hr could soon be a reality. Professor Hiroshi Shimizu and his team from Keio University in Tokyo have developed the Eliica of 800 hp, which can travel 300 km on one charge, produces no emissions and uses half the energy compared with a gasoline-powered automobile. Professor Shimizu utilizes Japan's most advanced motor and lithium battery technologies for an electric car so powerful it rivals the giant gasoline world. Will these technologies see the 400 km/hr speed barrier broken?
